A Name Twice Made Famous, Now a Shining Mark for Imitators.

The name " Chase," twice made famous, is a shining mark for the unscrupulous to pounce upon and appropriate in order to foist upon the public their worthless pre-parations. These birds of prey, by using the name Chase, expect the public to be fooled into believing they are the medicines of Dr. A. W. Chase, who first became noted as the author of the world famed Dr. Chase's Receipe Book and family physician, and whose fame is now increased by the wonderful success of his Nerve Pills, with Nerve, Brain and Blood troubles. They play upon the name Chase, but dare not use the initials

SINCE the republicans came into power in Indiana the state debt has been reduced very rapidly and tens of thousands of dollars have been saved to the people in interest. Keep the republicans in power and this debt paying process will continue. Don't forget that during every period the democratic party has been in control since 1860 the state debt has increased.

IT IS taken for granted that men will not knowingly vote against their own best interests. Therefore we believe with conditions existing as they have for five years past more men than ever before will vote the republican ticket. Sunday morning early Conductor Mike Sexton was hurt at Flora, Ill., but not so bad as first reported It seems that while the train was standing at Flora a man got down under the engine with one of those big long pokers and when he got through with his duty he came out and let the poker fall striking Mr. Sexton on the head making a painful scalp wound. He went on with his train to Cincinnati but was relieved of duty as conductor by another man. While the injury was very painful it is not regarded so serious as first reported here.

At either end the land is fully 100 feet above the highest recorded surface of the lake, which possesses no known outlet, although it is fed by numerous mountain creeks.

The lake was discovered by a bushman in 1820 and was known to the blacks as the 'big water." It was then and mornings, there is nothing like supposed to form the source of a river having its mouth on the south coast, but subsequent visitors were much perplexed at the manner in which the blacks avoided the lake, of which they appeared to entertain a superstitious dread, one aged aboriginal stating she had seen it all covered with trees, another explaining that the whole of the water sunk through the bottom and disappeared, while others remembered ponds.

During the following 20 years considerable variations were noted in the depth and extent of the lake. In 1841 the lake became partially dried up, the moist portions being simply grassy swamps. A few months later large numbers of sheep were pastured in the bed of the lake, but fresh water had to be carted for the use of the shepherds, that of the lake being too salt for human consumption. The place remained more or less dry until 1852, the year of the great floods in that part of the colony, when it again became filled, with an average depth of nine feet. Since then the surface level of the lake has varied considerably, but the bed has never been so dry as in former years.
